Maternity Leave Policy

Dummy training document | Effective 1 January 2026

Purpose and Scope

This fictional training policy explains maternity leave procedures for eligible employees. It is not legal advice or an actual company policy. Applicable law takes precedence over this sample.

Leave Entitlement

For this training example, eligible employees may receive up to 26 weeks of maternity leave, subject to applicable conditions and law. Actual dates must be reviewed and approved through the HR process.

Application and Notice

Employees should apply as early as practical. For planned leave, the recommended target is at least 30 calendar days before the proposed start date where practical.

Pay and Benefits

Salary, benefits, and payroll treatment depend on applicable law, employment terms, and the approved company policy. Employees should ask HR for written clarification.

Extensions and Return

An extension is not automatic. Employees should coordinate with HR, confirm their expected return date, and report changes as soon as practical.
